

No. 7:02-CR-149-BR-1

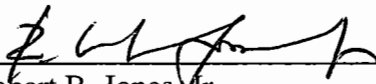

V.

Defendant.

Based on Defendant's knowing and voluntary waiver, this court finds probable cause exists to hold Defendant over for a hearing on the government's motion to revoke probation. Based on Defendant's waiver of his right to a detention hearing, there is no condition, or combination of conditions, that can be imposed which would reasonably assure Defendant's appearance and/or the safety of another person or the community.

Defendant is therefore committed to the custody of the Attorney General or a designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or held in custody pending appeal. Defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity to consult privately with defense counsel. On order of United States Court or on request of an attorney for the government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver Defendant to the United States Marshals for a court appearance.

SO ORDERED, the 28th day of January 2019.

Robert B. Jones, Jr.
United States Magistrate Judge
